1. Introduction

Hywel Dda UHB is seeking to commission a series of artworks for the new state of the art Bronglais Cancer Treatment Unit to ensure that it feels like a healing, comforting and kind environment that better reflects the high quality service provided to patients by the Bronglais CDU team.

The artwork forms an important element of this long awaited building project and is based on the evidence that enhancing a healthcare environment with art can:

- Improve patient experience and outcomes
- Help patients feel more cared for and families feel that their loved ones are cared for
- Help to provide an identify for the unit
- Provide comfort, support and soothe
- Help to provide dignity and respect
- Offer distraction
- Improve staff wellbeing
- Help to promote healing and recovery
- Aid wayfinding and placemaking

A high quality, thoughtful and well considered public art programme must respond to the shared vision for the role of artwork in the Cancer Treatment Unit and will make a genuinely positive difference to the experience of patients and staff within this special healthcare environment.

1. The Artist Brief:

Commission: Entrance Commission

What:

Create monochromatic patterns/motif/design/artwork for use on the glazing of the front door to the new unit with the possibility of being rolled into the treatment room if appropriate and if funding allows.

Why:

A visual identity/pattern/artwork to be incorporated into glazing on the front door of unit. To welcome patients and families, provide clarity that they have arrived in the right place and project a culture of kindness, quality, safety and compassion drawing on themes of nature.

Where:

On the front door entrance.

Full thematic, emotional details and entrance dimensions are available below.

How will it support patients and add value to the health context?

To draw on our beautiful environment to help us to nurture our patients and help shape an atmosphere that feels like a healing, care and kind healthcare environment.

Artwork can improve the patient and staff experience by providing kindness and compassion, understanding, dignity and comfort.

Who:

Hywel Dda BGH CDU Public Art Task and Finish Group is commissioning the artwork. The group, which is chaired by Elin Jones, Oncologist and Lead clinician, is made up of representatives from the Clinical team, Arts in Health team, Capital project staff and patient representatives.

Hywel Dda Arts in Health Coordinator Kathryn Lambert will manage the artist with support from Gaby Walters, Hywel Dda Arts in Health Administrator.

The Arts in Health Coordinator will report to the Task and Finish Group and liaise with Kevin Dobson, Hywel Dda Architect who will be the main point of contact with the main contractor to realise the project.

When:

The new development is scheduled to open December 2024.

Hywel Dda UHB is inviting artists to express their interest in creating bespoke artwork/s for the unit in collaboration with the project team by 10th October 2023. Please see timeline below for further details.

Eligibility:

We are looking for professional visual artists, painters, illustrators, glass artists, makers and designers with experience in creating artwork for a public/healthcare setting.

We are keen to commission artists based in Wales who have some relationship to or understanding of Ceredigion and/or mid Wales.

Equality:

We particularly keen to hear from artists from culturally and ethnically diverse backgrounds as well as D/deaf, disabled and neuro divergent artists.

How to apply?

Please apply to gabrielle.walters@wales.nhs.uk by sending your Expression of Interest as outlined below.

2. The commission:

2.1 Aims and objectives of the commission

All artworks will need to deliver upon the shared vision for the role of artwork within the CDU to create a comfortable and calming atmosphere through drawing on nature and the environment as follows:

2.2. Themes:

Artworks will need to draw on the theme of nature:

- By drawing on our beautiful environment to help us to nurture our patients and help shape an atmosphere that feels like a healing, caring and kind environment.
- Choosing, colours, shapes and imagery that reflects the tranquillity and dependability of nature by working within an agreed colourway
- At home with nature - From mountain to sea (nature – land & sea)

The role of the artwork will be to:

- Provide a sense of security, privacy, dignity, comfort and calm.
- Enhance light and space
- Provide a warm, cosy and homely environment
- Promote hope and positivity and reflect the bravery of staff and patients.
- Provide distraction, something new to look at on each returning visit, something to talk about and something to remind patients that there is more to life than this moment
- Involve people – helps to make people feel cared for, listened to, valued & safe
- Be Site specific – be relevant, bespoke to that site/place/community – gives artwork relevance and meaning & helps to develop stories
- Be meaningful to new patients and new staff as well as existing patients and staff
- Reflect the generosity and support of the local community
- Help build an identity for the unit with a coherent vision and approach.
- Nurture staff with staff spaces that are comfortable and calming, providing security and respite.

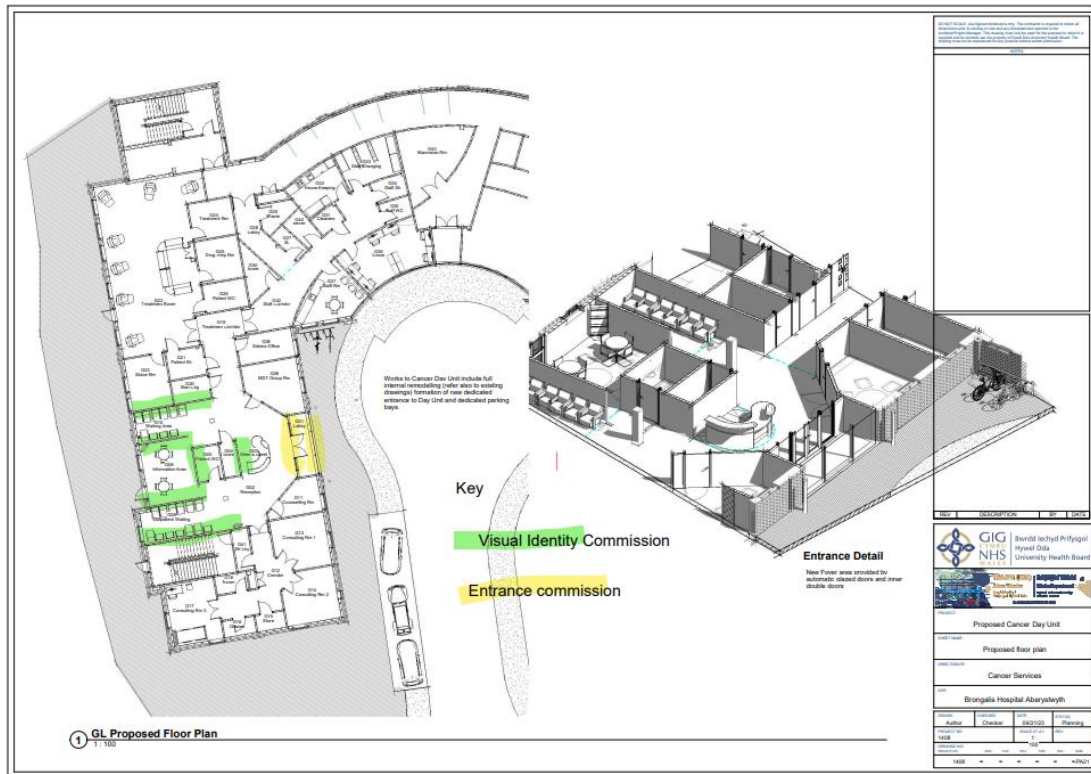

2.3. Description of artist's role

- Liaison with the Project Team, Public Art Task & Finish Group, User Groups, architects, contractors etc
- Consultation and engagement with patients, staff, the wider community
- Consideration of specific health and safety and infection control constraints as part of the design of the work
- Consideration of eventual cleaning and maintenance of the artwork, including providing a cleaning and maintenance manual for the artwork
- Production of concept, draft and final designs
- Responsibilities with regards installation of the artwork
- Responsibilities with regards documenting the process of making the work
- Artwork will need to comply with Equalities and Welsh Language Requirements and be designed to be accessible to all through the development of a bilingual approach.

3. Background and site context

3.1. Name of the Commissioning organisation

Hywel Dda University Health Board is the commissioning organisation.

This is the first time that the health board has commissioned a public art programme as part of a capital project.

The Project Steering Group agreed to invest in a Public Art approach for this project due to:

- the very high level of community support and involvement in the project
- the special nature of the healthcare environment
- the interest expressed by the clinical team and that the look and feel of the atmosphere was vital
- Inline with the health boards new focus on Arts and Health and Hywel Dda's forthcoming Arts and Health Charter.
- As a flagship pilot project for the Capital and new Arts in Health Team.

We are proud that the Bronglais Cancer Treatment Unit is being funded by Hywel Dda Health Charities, the official charity of Hywel Dda University Health Board, thanks to the generosity of our local communities.

3.2. Name of the new development – Bronglais Cancer Treatment Unit (tbc)

The main aim of the project is to enable HDdUHB to deliver a safe, local and fit for the future solution for the delivery of systemic anti-cancer treatment (SACT) for people living in Ceredigion and parts of the neighbouring counties of which 40% of patients are from neighbouring counties in North Powys and South Gwynedd.

It has long been recognised that the physical environment of the BGH CDU, currently located within part of the Leri Ward on the ground floor of the hospital, is not fit for purpose. Whilst the excellent clinical teams involved deliver the very best care possible, the current environment is in need of modernising to allow the very best of care to be given. As a result, an internal project group has been formed to explore the options to develop a new treatment unit within BGH to ensure that a safe, local and fit for the future solution is implemented for the delivery of SACT for people affected by cancer in this region.

The BGH CDU Project Group was established in 2017 to ensure a safe, local and fit for the future solution for the delivery of chemotherapy (and associated medicines) for Ceredigion patients.

3.3 What are the needs of patients?

Patients are:

- people living in Ceredigion and parts of the neighbouring counties of which 40% of patients are from neighbouring counties in North Powys and South Gwynedd.
- are adults, aged 18+
- are often returning
- potentially have long travel times – so need a nice welcome
- Sometime brought by others but not always
- Build long, trusting relationships with staff

Patients visit for

- a)neoadjuvant – treatment before surgery to improve chances of surgery being curative
- b)post surgery – for a course of treatment for up to 6 months or even a year, given after surgery to reduce the risk of the cancer returning
- c)palliative treatment for incurable cancers – a course of treatment with short breaks or can be continued long-term treatments which lead to long relationship with staff and unit

Patients need all 4 elements of a person's being to be cared for: Physical, Psychological, Social & Spiritual.

Emotional mapping of the patient journey showed the need for artwork to provide:

- distraction, comfort and support

- dignity, care and respect
- hope and positivity
- care and compassion
- comfort & cosiness
- reassurance and safety

4. Design Requirements

4.1 Commitment to sustainability:

Hywel Dda are committed to sustainability and biophilic design.

We expect the artist to propose artworks that is in line with

- Hywel Dda's green credentials – by considering the materials, and manufacturing processes used
- Biophilic Design Ambitions

4.2. Technical parameters

All artworks will have to be designed to meet all technical requirements and must consider:

- Loadings (e.g., maximum loading of a ceiling for suspended artwork)
- Necessary fire rating of materials
- Required infection control parameters
- Access & installation
- Power

4.3. Maintenance and lifespan

All artwork proposals should be designed to ensure easy cleaning and maintenance and be built to last.

4.4. Decommissioning

If the health board wish to dismantle and dispose of or re-install the artwork elsewhere at a future date a plan will be drawn up to decommission or re-site the artwork.

5. The Commission Process

5.1 Project management and reporting

Hywel Dda Arts in Health Coordinator Kathryn Lambert will manage the commission and be your main point of contact.

The commissioned artist will report to Kathryn and the Public Art Task and Finish Group.

5.2. Responsibilities of the commissioner

Hywel Dda UHB will take responsibility for.

- Enabling work, structural site works.
- Connecting the artist with project staff, clinical team, patients and contractors as required

5.3. Contractual arrangements

The artist will be contracted once with payment In three stages – 1)for signing contracts 2)final design 3)fabrication and installation and evaluation

5.4. Planning approval

The project is subject to a planning application as described above.

5.5. Design approval process

The artist will be required to produce both draft and final designs to the Public Art Task and Finish Group inline with the proposed timeline.

The artist will present draft and final designs to the Public Art Task and Finish Group for comment and approval.

The group will seek further guidance and advice before approval is given to final designs. For example: Infection Control Approval; Installation Risk Assessments and Method Statements (RAMS).

The artist will be expected to include a fully costed budget as part of the final designs inline with the agreed budget.

5.6. Installation

An installation Risk Assessment and Method Statement will be provided by the contractor in association with the artist.

The Artist will have to attend a ½ day site induction before attending the site, wearing full PPE when they will be provided with the contractor site standards.

The artist will be responsible for delivery of the completed work to the site and the costs of delivery (including packaging, transport and insurance) will be paid by the artist from their fee.

5.7. Ownership of artworks

The commissioned artworks will be owned by Hywel Dda UHB once installed.

5.8. Insurance

The artist is required to hold, public liability insurance of up to £5 million.

The artist will be expected to provide details of this on signing the contract.

The artwork will not be insured.

5.9. Warranties

The artist is expected to rectify any defects or cover reasonable costs of repair to the work, caused by fabrication, materials or design, which arise within twelve months after the installation and sign-off of the work.

6. Artist selection process

Artist expressions of interest will be proposed to the Public Art Task and Finish Group for consideration.
